Get Your Company in It to Win It with Business Expo

It's never too early to register for Raleigh's largest business-to-business tradeshow!

The 2010 Business Expo, brought to you by the Greater Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and The News and Observer Publishing Company, will feature over 300 businesses under one roof, showcasing their products and services. With an expected attendance of over 5,000 people, you're sure to generate 20 to 30 solid leads as an exhibitor.

Interested in maximizing your visibility? Become a sponsor! You'll get the premier booth spots at the show, right near the entrance, guaranteeing the most foot traffic. Your sponsorship will build your company's name recognition, extend your marketing reach, and get prominent exposure in the 2010 Business Expo Program.

To get started, sign up for the Chamber's FREE "Why Should I Exhibit" workshop on December 10 from 8:30 – 9:30 a.m. While there is no requirement to attend, it's the perfect introduction for first-time exhibitors. Any questions you have will be addressed.

We also encourage you to participate in the FREE "Expo Booth Marketing" workshop on February 17, 2010 from 8:30 – 9:30 a.m. at the Greater Raleigh Chamber of Commerce. You'll learn how to attract customers, sell your products and services, and more.

The 2010 Business Expo will be held at the N.C. State Fairgrounds in the Jim Graham Building on Wednesday, April 28 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Discounts apply for early registration, so check out costs and register now by visiting raleighchamber2.org/bizexpo.
